Men Get Chance To Beat Draft

WASHINGTON (AP) — Men ordered drafted in early July were given a fresh chance today to beat the draft by joining the Reserves or National Guard.

They also were offered another chance to enlist in the regular forces for two years, instead of the usual three or more, and gain a wider choice of assignments than draftees.

Today's announcements reflect Selective Service moves to implement two new policies, one permitting men to opt for the Guard or Reserves after getting their draft notices, and the other permitting the shorter enlistment period.

The new rule says a man may not join a unit or enlist for less than three years within 10 days of his induction date. That would have left out most of those ordered to report early next month, but today Acting Draft Director Byron V. Pepitone eased the rule.

Pepitone authorized draft boards to grant a 15-day delay for men with reporting dates between July 1 and July 15 if they are actively being processed for Reserve or Guard appointment or two-year enlistment.

Corsicana Scouts Expect Experience

Ten Corsicana Boy Scouts and a scoutmaster will leave June 29 for what they expect to be one of the highest experiences of their scouting careers.

The Corsicana group will "Meet the challenge of Philmont" for ten days. Philmont Scout Ranch and Explorer Base, a 214-square-mile ranch in northeastern New Mexico, is owned by the Boy Scouts of America and is known to Scouts across the country for its rough and rugged terrain and challenging activities.

The Corsicana group, Ned Balcom, Jeff Gee, Hall Griffin, Garry Harris, Jon Lahmon, Luther Mitchell, Kelly Myers, Phil Phinney, Chris Stewart, Victor Williams, and troopmaster David Hull, will travel to Philmont by chartered bus from Dallas.

This si the first group to go from Corsicana. Individuals have gone in past years, Hull explained, but never as a troop. To make the trip, he said, a boy must be at least 14 and have achieved the rank of at least First Class Scout.

Arriving at the ranch, the expedition will meet their ranger who will lead and train them on the trails for the first three days of their 10-day wilderness trek. On the Philmont trails the Scouts will participate in various programs offered in many mountain camps by more than 400 staff members.

Among programs available to the Scouts will be earth science, gold panning, rock climbing, archaelogical study and digging, burro packing and horseback riding, and wilderness survival. The group will climb the highest mountain at Philmont, a mountain rising over 12,000 feet, Hull said.

The entire program at Philmont is concerned with ecological awareness and preservation of the area's natural beauty.

...Denies Rumors To Incorporate Angus

Corsicana city officials quickly let it be known to some Angus residents Tuesday that Corsicana has no plans to annex the Angus community—and couldn't if it wanted to. And not only that, the matter hadn't even been considered despite any rumor to the contrary residents may have heard.

Mayor Sue Youngblood, however, announced the City Commission's agenda was being amended to allow several Angus residents to raise their questions concerning rumored annexation.

Joe Edens, Rt. 3, Angus, along with Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Jones, Angus, were on hand to put the question to puzzled city officials.

Edens inquired, "What we would like to know is how fast could this (annexation by Corsicana) happen?" He added that at a meeting Friday night at Angus residents were told Corsicana planned to annex the community and cited this as a reason for the urgency behind the community proceeding to incorporate itself into a town. He indicated others didn't want to be rushed into any incorporating efforts until they could sound out city officials.

Quicly Mayor Youngblood told the group, "I think this was just a threat. We haven't even considered it. We are just as anxious as you are to try to find out how it got started.

"It was just a rumor," responded Commissioners P. D. Fullwood and H. R. Stroube Jr., adding city officials had first heard of it when Angus residents approached city leaders before the meeting opened.

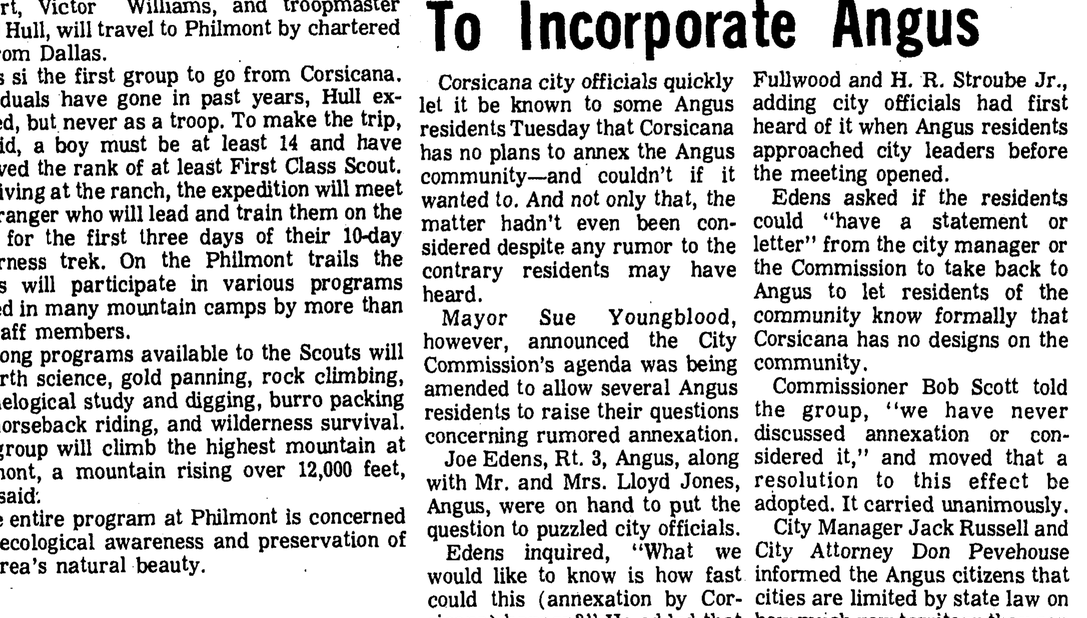

Edens asked if the residents could "have a statement or letter" from the city manager or the Commission to take back to Angus to let residents of the community know formally that Corsicana has no designs on the community.

Commissioner Bob Scott told the group, "we have never discussed annexation or considered it," and moved that a resolution to this effect be adopted. It carried unanimously.

City Manager Jack Russell and City Attorney Don Pevehouse informed the Angus citizens that cities are limited by state law on how much new territory they can annex in a year and how far out they can extend. If Corsicana had any intentions, which it didn't, he said, it would take up to five years, under territorial limitations now in effect, to extend as far as Angus.

Council Okays Rate...

By BETTY JEAN CLAY
Sun Staff Writer

Increased telephone rates requested by Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. for Corsicana were approved on first reading Tuesday by the City Commission with Mayor Sue Youngblood casting the only negative vote after saying she would like to give the matter further study.

She reported to the Commission she had received several calls of complaints against the rate hikes, but all Commissioners said they had received no opposition from the public.

Observing that he thought there would be someone there to object, after learning from the mayor of the calls she had had, Commissioner H. R. Stroube asked "Where are they—they are not here today?"

Southwestern Bell manager Gerry Rogers told city officials the telephone company had not sought an increase in 12 years and during that time had been able in large degree to "hold the lines on costs, but as you well know inflationary costs of doing business have skyrocketed."

Existing rates are based on 1959-60 costs and rate of return on investment, said Rogers. "We are asking for a fair return on our investment." Questioned by the Commission, he said the rate of return on investment was 1.96, and the rate increase being sought would bring this to 2.99 per cent.

Commissioner John Carlock asked what the "average" rate of return on investments is for telephone companies in Texas, and Rogers replied 5.1 per cent statewide.

Rogers said he didn't know what the rate of investment return was for the company locally in 1959-60.

Southwestern Bell is not asking for rate hikes in all Texas cities it serves, only in those cities "where we are not making a fair rate of return," said Rogers.

He also said he feels city officials are aware the telephone company has "spent considerable monies" on making improvements and additions to facilities here. Corsicana has better telephone service than many places because many cities of similar size don't have direct distant dialing, said Rogers.

During the course of the public hearing, Ronnie Willis asked, "What happens if the city doesn't grant the increase?" City Attorney Don Pevehouse answered that then the burden would be on the telephone company to file a lawsuit, go into court to show—as the company contends—that it is not being allowed a reasonable rate of return on its investment.

Manager Rogers informed the Commission that he had filed a letter with the city manager in advance showing the increase being sought was within the guidelines established by the Price Commission.

Commissioner P. D. Fullwood asked Rogers if the company were getting service to new home developments, advising he had received some calls indicating some difficulty was being experienced by people wanting phones.

Rogers said to his knowledge everyone was being provided service, "and if there is someone who is not getting service I need to know about it."

Fullwood said so many changes have been made by the city recently on sub-division development, he knew problems had been encountered lately.

Commissioner Scott then moved the rate hikes as requested be approved on the ordinance's first reading and that the city request the telephone company have its engineer present at the next meeting to answer any questions or discuss any problems in light of the discussion. On a second by Commissioner Stroube, all four Commissioners voted "yes" with Mayor Youngblood voting "no," observing she was reserving the prerogative to change her mind by the second reading.

...Accepts Airport Master-Plan Firm...

Corsicana City Commissioners Tuesday accepted recommendations on selection of an engineering firm to develop a master plan for the airport, levied a temporary fee for a mosquito control program, enlarged its Plumbing Appeals and Advisory Board by two additions, formally requested the county to outfit a fire truck and approved several zoning changes requested by property owners.

On recommendations from the Airport Advisory Board, the Commission selected the Euless firm of Knolton-Ratliff-English and Collins to make application for a federal airport planning grant and develop an airport master plan provided a satisfactory contract can be negotiated.

City Manager Jack Russell said the advisory board had been very thorough in interviewing firms for this work. The Euless firm be engaged subject to negotiating a price for their service, he said.

Commissioners gave final approval to levying a 25 cent a month fee to all water customers for three months to finance a mosquito control program effective in July. Manager Russell said many cities have gone to a new technique recommended by the State Health Department where pellet forms of insecticide are dropped in streams and stagnant pools of water to kill mosquito larvae. This is especially effective in areas inaccessible to spraying vehicles or men equipped with portable spraying devices, he said, in response to an inquiry if any evaluation had been made of this type program.

Commissioners confirmed Mayor Sue Youngblood's appointment of W. B. (Billie) Tatum and Jack Conger to four-years terms as representatives of the city's air conditioning and heating contractors on the Plumbing Board. The appointments came on the heels of final approval of an amending ordinance enlarging the board from six to eight members specifically to add representatives from this industrial service group.

...Discusses Judge...

Although restrained by court order from taking any action, Corsicana city officials sought information from their legal counsel at Tuesday's City Commission meeting on the status of the pending case involving their attempt to remove City Judge Fred Upchurch from office.

At the end of the Commission meeting, Commissioner H. R. Stroube Jr. raised the matter by commenting he would like to hear a report from City Attorney Don Pevehouse "on the man whose name we are not supposed to mention."

Pevehouse reminded the Commission that the District Court had granted a temporary injunction preventing the city from removing the municipal judge.

"It will be in effect as long and until the case is heard on its merits. By law it has not been heard on its merits," Pevehouse said.

Asked why the case has not been heard on its merits, the city attorney replied he did not think the question was proper to raise during a Commission meeting when the matter had not been heard in court.

Highway Discussed

A public hearing concerning proposed construction of Farm to Market Highway 4243 from Eureka to Navarro was attended by about 30 people at the Sky Room of the First National Bank this morning. The cost of the two-lane road is estimated at $381,000.

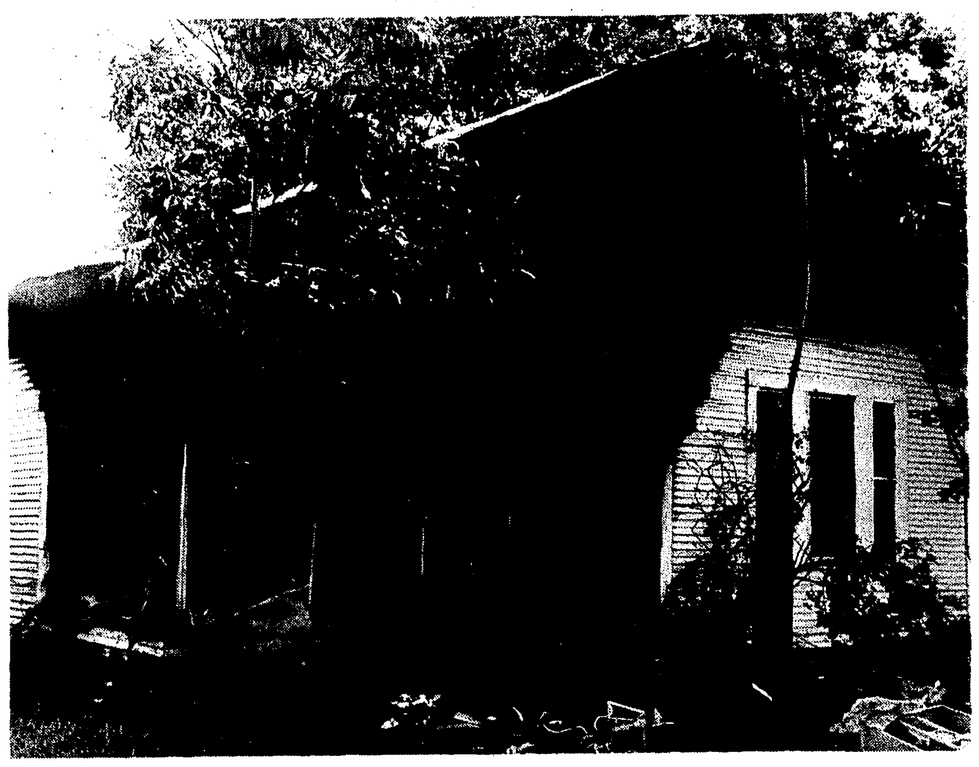

Airplane Crash Kills Corsicanan

A native Corsicanan, Lt. Col. James Doyle Black, was one of two pilots killed early Sunday when their F-111 jet plane crashed on take off from Eglin Air Force Base near Crestview, Fla., relatives here have been advised.

Lt. Col. Black was an 18-year veteran of the U.S. Air Force and the son of Mrs. Deola Black of Mesquite and the late E. J. Black. His mother had been visiting him and his wife, Margie, for the past week.

The Air Force pilot was the nephew of Mrs. B. A. George and Mrs. R. H. Lee of Corsicana.

His mother called her sisters here Sunday evening to inform them of the tragedy.

Lightning Destruction

Home Destroyed

Thunderstorm, Lightning Hit

Corsicana and some parts of the Golden Circle received heavy rains this morning and Wednesday. The worst weather hit Trinidad Wednesday about 1:00 p.m. when, during a two-inch rainfall, lightning struck and destroyed a home.

Corsicana received .41 inch in showers inclusive of a quick, severe thunderstorm this morning even though weather reports were still not predicting rain early today.

The general pattern of rainfall shows heavier rains fell from Corsicana north to Ennis and east to the Trinity River. Ennis reported .65 inch Wednesday and a light shower this morning. Besides Trinidad in the east, Kerens reported 1.8 inches of precipitation and also a shower this morning.

The electrical storm which hit Corsicana before dawn today caused a few isolated problems, according to Embry Ferguson, Texas Power and Light district manager. A 40-minute power interruption in north Corsicana was the biggest problem. Lightning knocked out an air switch, disrupting service in the area of North Beaton, Mamie Ave. and Forrest Lane from 6:30 to 7:10 a.m.

Also, a transformer fuse was blown at the Nipak Plastic Pipe plant on East Highway 31, but service was quickly restored.

Meanwhile, Corsicana police had no reports of damage or street flooding by the rains which quickly ran off into low lying areas, streams and storm drains.

Wortham and Richland reported trace precipitation Wednesday and none this morning, while Barry and Hubbard showed no rain yesterday and a trace this morning. Blooming Grove reported dry for both days.

State-wide the weather was more violent. Tornadoes and massive thunderstorms lashed the Texas Panhandle Wednesday night with police reporting hurricane force winds in Dumas in the Upper Panhandle. Besides winds up to 80 to 90 miles per hour, tornadoes and golfball to baseball size hail were reported in the area.

While there was considerable damage, no deaths were reported and injuries all were said to be minor, according to Associated Press reports.

While parts of the state shuddered under the turbulent weather, other sections sweltered under the early summer Texas heat. Del Rio recorded a high of 103, and nearby Cotulla had a reading of 102. Elsewhere, San Angelo reported 101 degrees and El Paso an even 100.

By early today, a cool front contributing to the turbulence lay stalled along a line linking Lufkin, Waco and Midland, with a band of thunderstorms extending east and west to the north of the frontal system.

The forecast is partly cloudy skies and a little warmer through Friday. High temperature Friday is expected to be around 90 degrees and the low temperature tonight in the 70's. Winds are light and southeasterly.

High temperature Wednesday was 87 degrees and the low this morning was 71. A slight chance of thunderstorms is forecast for tonight.

Aunt Louise

We personally wish all fathers a very Happy Father's Day.

Did you know I am not very well acquainted with fathers? My father died when I was two years old, and my mother never remarried. My children Pat and Mike's father died when they were one year old.

The twins sort of "adopted" my late sister's husband, J. R. "Uncle" Raymond Carroll. They are thoughtful and always remember him with a card or a gift and this pleases me as he is fond of them too.

Once when they were very small they went to the "Dime Store" and bought a package of corn pads and wrapped them as a Father's Day Gift for me. Smile!

Anyway, one of our nice Daily Sun Carriers came to my rescue and brought me the following poem to publish today.

A FATHER IS.....
(Anonymous)

"This worries him sometimes, so he works too hard to try and endure childbirth without benefit of anesthetic.

"He is the one who stands at the bus station and waves good-bye to the uniform that climbs aboard, smiling on the outside while shedding tears within.

"He is the fellow who gives his daughter away to another man who isn't nearly good enough, so that he can have grandchildren that are smarter than anybody's.

"He is the hero his little boy worships, the ideal his daughter admires; but in his heart he knows he is not quite all they think he is.

will follow him.

"Some day he's bound to wear out and when he does he'll find the door of heaven open to him an abundant entrance. What a great reward he'll have! But after he's rested awhile he won't just sit on a cloud and wait for the girl he's loved and the children she bore him. He'll be busy there, too, repairing the stairs, oiling the gate, improving the streets, smoothing the way."

Prayer for the day: I pray that I may develop that faint likeness I have to the Divine. I pray that others may see in me some of the power of God's grace at work.

Remember to write. Will see you in Thursday's Daily Sun.

Trinity Watershed Work

The first small watershed project in the Trinity River Watershed to include flood prevention, drainage and stream channel improvement is well underway on Smith Creek, East of Ennis. The small creek is a part of Village-Walker Creek Watershed.

Flooding on Smith Creek is caused both by run-off and lack of adequate drainage outlets; so the plan is designated to solve both problems.

Planned structural measures include nine floodwater retarding structures, 5.53 miles of multiple-purpose stream channel improvement, 19.3 miles of multiple-purpose main and lateral ditches, and 4.2 miles of floodwater diversion terraces.

Eight floodwater retarding dams have been built which control some 5,500 acres of run-off. The construction work on 5.53 miles of channel work was completed in December, 1970. The contract for the construction of 4.2 miles of diversion terrace was made Friday to East Fork Construction Company of Seagoville, for a total cost of $52,400.00.

The Soil Conservation Service is nearing completion of land rights maps to be used by the sponsors to acquire easements for the multiple-purpose main and lateral ditches.

The Ellis County Commissioners Court, Ellis-Prairie Soil and Water Conservation District, and the Ellis County Levee Improvement District are jointly sponsoring the project. As sponsors, they are responsible for acquiring necessary easements and for operating and maintaining the project.

FM Plans Get Scant Debate

Approximately 30 persons attending a public discussion on proposed Farm-to-Market Highway 4243 construction plans Wednesday expressed little opposition to the construction. The meeting was in the Sky Room of the First National Bank.

Bob Yielding, assistant district engineer with the Texas Highway Department, said the recommended route requires 5.2 miles and an alternate route is 5.5. miles of construction. He said there appeared to be no opposition to construction of the farm to market road, that discussion centered on residents of the area favoring one route or the other.

"All comments received at the meeting will be considered in the proposed route and the design," Yielding said.

He said the estimated cost of the proposed two-lane road is $381,000. Both routes would follow along much of a gravel road presently used for traveling from Eureka to Navarro.

"The purpose of the public hearing," Yielding said, "was to have the public meeting whereby the plans of the Texas Highway Department are presented to the public and in turn, the Texas Highway Department hears people regarding various aspects of these plans.

"What we like to do is present all of our information to the public to become fully aware of our plans. Often at these meetings, we uncover facts we are not aware of which are presented by various citizens. We gather information, review it, and give consideration of all comments and statements in formulation of our final design." The department seeks comments from the public concerning proposed route locations and highway design features, Yielding said.

The Navarro County Commissioners and County Judge Kenneth Douglas were among persons attending the meeting.

Three Pedestrians Injured

Three Houston pedestrians were injured about 6 p.m. Wednesday in the southbound traffic lane on IH 45 about 0.4 miles north of Richland when they were struck by a late-model truck-tractor and semi-trailer. according to Highway Patrolman Larry McCaig.

Don Bruess, 22, of Houston was taken to Navarro County Memorial Hospital suffering from compound fracture and minor abrasions on the left leg, according to patrolman. A hospital spokesman said the man was transferred to Presbyterian Hospital in Dallas.

The other two Houston men, Jack Davis, 23, and Eric Rosenbloom, 19, were treated at Memorial Hospital and dismissed. Davis sustained a minor blow to the back of the head and had abrasions on the left leg. Rosenbloom had an injury to the right arm. Another man with the group, Ronald Moffa of Arlington, was not injured.

McCaig said the four men had been riding two motorcycles and were parked off the road while securing the loads on the motorcycles when a truck-tractor driven by Clyde Allison Moody of Houston struck the pedestrians and the two motorcycles.

The officer said damage to the motorcycles was heavy. Patrolman Vernon Crook assisted with traffic direction after the accident.

Burglaries of two residences also were investigated Tuesday night by Corsicana police and a reported attempted break-in by a prowler at a residence at 2 a.m. Wednesday was checked out with no suspect found.

And For You Potato Lovers...

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

A variation of cottage-fried potatoes comes with the cosmopolitan name of Basque Potatoes. These feature potatoes well-browned on both sides with beaten eggs poured over the top in the last stages of cooking. This is a dish potato lovers will ask for again and again.

BASQUE POTATOES AND EGGS

3 cups sliced cooked baking potatoes
4 tablespoons butter
¼ cup minced onion
½ teaspoon salt
Coarse-grind black pepper
4 eggs, well-beaten
Minced parsley, if desired

Slice peeled, cooked potatoes about ⅛-inch thick. Melt butter in heavy skillet. Add potatoes and onions. Press down into pan. Using medium heat, brown on one side and turn. For a fancier appearance, potato slices may be placed in oven-lapping circles for the first of two layers. Sprinkle browned side with salt and pepper. Carefully brown other side. Pour beaten eggs over the top. Sprinkle with minced parsley. Turn heat to very low. Cover. Cook 7 to 10 minutes or until eggs are set. Serve from the skillet in which the potatoes are cooked, cut in wedges. For variation cook bacon in heavy skillet. Remove and keep warm. Pour off drippings. Use 4 tablespoons of the drippings instead of butter. Follow above directions. To serve, top with cooked bacon strips or cut pieces. Another method is to pour ¼-cup thick cream over potatoes when they have started to brown. Four servings.

Spicy Switch For Popcorn

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Popcorn is a fine contribution of the American Indian to our choices in snack foods. Without the coating of rich butter, a cup of popcorn is about 60 calories.

For a taste change, add a variety of seasonings. These include a Curry or Herb Seasoning. Seasonings make popcorn an inexpensive party treat.

SEASONED POPCORN
Seasoning mixture (see suggestions below)
2 tablespoons corn oil
⅓ cup yellow or white hulless popcorn

Prepare seasoning and keep warm. Measure corn oil into a heavy 4-quart saucepan. Add 1 kernel of the popcorn. Place pan over moderately high heat. When kernel pops, remove and add ⅓-cup popcorn. Stir to mix popcorn and oil. Cover pan, leaving lid slightly ajar (or cover with a frying screen). Shake pan frequently until popping stops. Remove and turn into warm bowl. Add seasoning and toss thoroughly. Makes about 2 quarts seasoned popcorn.

CURRY SEASONING

Melt 3 tablespoons butter or margarine in small saucepan. Stir in ½-teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon curry powder, ¼-teaspoon ground cinnamon, ¼-teaspoon ground ginger. Makes enough to season about 2 quarts popcorn.

HERB SEASONING

Melt 3 tablespoons butter or margarine in small saucepan. Stir in ½-teaspoon salt. Crushing with fingers after measuring, add 1 teaspoon thyme leaves, ½-teaspoon sweet basil leaves, ½-teaspoon oregano, ½-teaspoon rosemary leaves (or use 2½ teaspoons ready mixed fines herbs). Makes enough to season about 2 quarts.

No matter what's on the menu, when eating with the boss we always hear him munching on a "beef" sandwich.

The Death Of a Young U.S. Colonel In Vietnam

ON ROUTE 13, Vietnam (AP) — He ran straight into an exploding rocket. At his heels was a gray mongrel dog, his constant companion in many battles. It died with him.

"He was right up front to get the attack going," said the officer who replaced him on the spot. "He didn't have to be right up here, but that's the kind of man Col. Willey was. His courage and sheer presence made all the difference.

Lt. Col. Burr M. Willey, 44, from Ayer, Mass., was one of a handful of Americans still seeing front-line action in Vietnam. He was part of the small team of advisers to the South Vietnamese 21st Infantry Division which has been fighting for two months to raise the siege of An Loc.

About noon Monday it seemed that the final push was near. Willey and other advisers persuaded the Vietnamese to use their tanks and rangers in an attempt to end the monthlong deadlock.

As the heavy vehicles lumbered northwards past his command bunker at Chon Thanh, Willey shouted gleefully, "At last they're moving."

He jammed on his steel helmet, tugged on his flak vest, climbed into his jeep and said, "I'll be back in half an hour." Two hours later a helicopter was to fly him to Saigon for a week's respite from the battlefront.

As his jeep began to move off, he called out, "Come on, Moose." Out of the bunker dashed a streak of dirty gray fur. It jumped between the radios in the back seat, and the jeep raced off.

"I inherited Moose in the Delta," Willey had said half an hour earlier. "And he has never gone from my side. He insists on riding the helicopters with me. We even made the newspapers together," he laughed, showing a clipping.

It was an Associated Press Wirephoto showing Willey shooting his rifle, his barking dog behind him. The picture was taken on May 13, a few yards from where they were to die together.

Willey bypassed the tanks strung along Route 13 and swung off the road near a forward position called the Anthill. Bending low to avoid snipers, he ran forward to join a battalion adviser, Maj. Thyrone Henderson of Lexington, Ky., in his foxhole.

"We heard the first rocket round come in behind us and looked back," Henderson recalled. "It hit near the Vietnamese command group. Willey started back to see if anyone had been hurt and to take over if needed.

"I was five or ten yards behind. There was a terrific explosion just in front of him. I heard the dog yelp in pain. When the dust settled, Col. Willey was lying on the ground and I knew it was instant death. The dog tumbled into a bomb crater."

While Henderson wrapped the dead colonel in a poncho, the rockets continued to fall. Within minutes, nine Vietnamese were dead and two were wounded. The drive collapsed, and the tanks and rangers pulled back.

Willey's friend and superior officer, Col. J. Ross Franklin, who had been at the side of the road, loaded the body on the hood of his jeep. Grim-faced, he raced southward, headlights flashing.

An American medical evacuation helicopter met them two miles down the road. Franklin grabbed one side of a shrapnel-shredded stretcher and loaded his dead officer aboard.

Eight wounded Vietnamese crawled aboard, and some sprawled across the colonel's litter.

"This was his third Vietnam tour," Franklin said as the helicopter lifted off. "He was an old soldier just doing his job."

Willey was a hard-driving man who had no illusions about the risks of his job or about the Vietnamese. In the past two months he had seen Americans who had worked with him killed or shipped home wounded.

He was full of sympathy for the Vietnamese soldiers fighting an endless war. But he did not hide his resentment of some of the Vietnamese officers who were reluctant to lead the fight. At the moment of his death, Willey's Vietnamese counterpart was following the operation from a hammock strung between the sandbagged walls of his command bunker three miles to the rear.

Sgt. Maj. Jim L. Ellis, from Croswell, Mich., fought back the tears as he packed Willey's few personal things. He had shared a forward bunker with the colonel since April 25 and had himself survived some close ones, including a direct hit on the bunker.

He pulled out a ledger from underneath a cot and ran his finger down the list of 15 advisers who had been on the regimental team. Some had died, some had been wounded as many as four times.

Indispensable Eggs Can Be Served Hundreds of Ways

By PATRICE GRIGGS
Assistant County Home Demonstration Agent

"PRE-PACKAGED" EGGS: Nature's own "pre-packaged product" is a good thing to have around. For eggs are one of our indispensable food items that can be served in literally hundreds of ways.

Careful handling provides the best results when handling eggs. For cake making, eggs and other ingredients should be at room temperature so they will combine well. Egg whites also whip up more quickly and to greater volume when they are at room temperature. When beating egg whites add a pinch of salt to help hold volume in the finished product.

When a recipe calls for just the egg whites and you need to save the yolks for later use, put the yolks in a jar and cover with a little water, cover tightly and refrigerate. This prevents the yolks from drying out.

When cooking eggs, keep the heat low to moderate. High heat toughens the protein. Too, egg and milk mixtures tend to curdle at high heat.

This Jellied Egg Rind filled with chicken or crab salad and served with tomato slices is a real warm weather treat.

1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
½ cup cold water
½ cup boiling water
2 tablespoons lemon juice
6 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
one-third cup sliced olives
¼ cup chopped celery
½ teaspoon grated onion
2 drops tobasco sauce
¼ teaspoon salt
Two-third cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
Several leaves of salad greens

Soften the gelatin in cold water. Dissolve in boiling water. Blend in the lemon juice, tabasco sauce, salt and mayonnaise. Chill until thick but not set. Blend in remaining ingredients except salad greens and mix well. Pour into a one-quart mold. Chill until set..Unmold on salad greens. Makes six servings of ½ cup each.

Egg Salad Toastwich.

6 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
One-third cup pickle relish
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
12 slices of bread
2 eggs, slightly beaten
½ cup milk
½ teaspoon salt

Combine chopped eggs, mayonnaise, mustard, pickle, parsley, ½ teaspoon salt and pepper. Mix well. Spread the mixture on 6 slices of bread and top with remaining slices.

Blend beaten eggs, milk and ½ teaspoon salt. Dip each sandwich in the mixture. Cook on a hot greased griddle until brown on one side, turn and brown the other side.

Creamy Egg Sandwich Filling.

3 hard-cooked eggs, finely chopped
6 oz. chive-flavored cream cheese
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ pepper

Combine all ingredients. Blend well and chill. Use ¼ cup for each sandwich. Makes 1½ cups of sandwich filling.

Pans used for baking sponge or foam type cakes should not be greased or treated. However, jelly and cake roll cakepans are the exceptions and they should be lined with greased paper.

The key to success in cooking meat is to use medium to low temperatures and to cook it for as short a time as possible. When prepared in this manner, beef, veal, lamb and pork are juicy with maximum tenderness.

The characteristic flavor and texture of cheese is best when served at room temperature. Remove cheese from the refrigerator at least one hour before serving. Exceptions are cottage and cream cheese which are served directly from the refrigerator.

Southern Pacific earned the medal by posting a record of only 3.72 injuries for every million man hours worked on its lines, including its northern California subsidiary, the Northwestern Pacific.

The accident ratio was the lowest ever achieved in Southern Pacific's history. During 1971, the railroad also had the lowest number of collisions and derailments per million train miles it has ever recorded.

Fire Truck Approved

The Corsicana City Commission Wednesday approved on first reading a request by Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. for increased rates.

This is the first such request made by the company in 12 years and includes a monthly increase in business one-party from $11.50 to $13.50, residence one-party from $5.50 to $6.25 and residence two-party from $4.25 to $4.90.

If the Commission approves the request on its second reading July 5 the new rates will go into effect during the next telephone billing cycle.

The Commission also approved a motion that the city request the county "to reconsider outfitting a pickup truck as a fire truck" after Mayor Sue Youngblood announced she would entertain such a motion.

Mayor Youngblood advised the Commission she and City Manager Russell recently had gone to the county officials asking they equip the pickup truck the county had given the city to replace a small truck demolished a year ago while making a fire run outside the city. She said she had "read in the newspaper recently" where the county had decided not to outfit the truck with equipment.

"What use is the pickup truck to us, I want to ask Chief Tieman," the mayor said, drawing from Fire Chief Charlie Tieman the response "not a bit of good as a fire truck." The fire chief said he had heard a rumor that the County Commissioners Court might reconsider equipping the truck, and speculated this could come about if the city just waited long enough. He said information had been passed on to him by a man he didn't name, but would reveal if pressed, that Commissioner Arlon Simmons "had changed his mind" and others may have, too.

Shortly after Commissioners had passed an ordinance on final reading granting to Beatric Bristow a Commercial zoning permit on a lot at N. 5th Street and E. 2nd Avenue, late arrival Billy Elias asked if there was any way the Commission would consider denying the change. Elias said he thought there was objection to a car lot being operated on the location as an "eyesore to people who are trying to upgrade their community."

Mayor Youngblood and Commissioner Fullwood replied they had not found anyone who opposed the change, and Fullwood said he had even gone to the neighborhood and asked around and no one he talked to objected.

City Attorney Don Pevehouse said inasmuch as the ordinance had been finally adopted, the only way the action could be undone was to pass a new ordinance repealing it, unless the Planning and Zoning Commission could be prevailed upon to reconsider.

As to the business being a storage place for "junked cars," Building Official Delma Ware said, the cars complained of by Elias are not considered by Corsicana as junked, but repossessed.
